

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRINCIPAL

Dear Parents, Guardians and Students,

Today, Woodlands was awash in pink as we showed our support for Breast Cancer Awareness. It was wonderful to see our senior college come together for a cause that touches the lives of so many people and families.

Today reminds us of the importance of compassion, support and looking after our own health and wellbeing. Today, we stand in solidarity with everyone affected by breast cancer, including those currently undergoing treatment, those who have overcome the disease, and the families and loved ones who offer strength and support along the way. We also remember those we have lost and recognise the courage shown by so many throughout their journeys. By wearing pink, we hope to help keep this important conversation alive and supporting one another as a college family!

As we head into our midterm break, I wish all our Woodlands families a restful and happy few days together. We know that, with exams on the horizon, the break may include its fair share of revision, study timetables and preparation! I encourage our students to use the time wisely, but also to remember that rest is an important part of doing well. A change of scenery, time outdoors, a good night's sleep and time spent with family and friends can do wonders for recharging both the mind and body!

I hope the break offers everyone an opportunity to slow down, find a little balance and return feeling refreshed and ready for the exam weeks ahead.
